

Registered Dietitian Disclosure

Since there are states and/or countries that have regulations as to the educational requirements and use of various occupational titles, we suggest that you check with your state or country to see if there are any applicable regulations. In the United States, for example, some states have restrictions for using the title “Nutritionist” or “Nutrition Counselor”, while other states do not. In any case, the use of the “Registered Dietitian” or “Dietitian” titles is restricted to individuals who met the credentialing requirements of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

Please note the programs at Huntington University of Health Sciences do not lead to the Registered Dietitian (RD) credential, nor do they allow you the use of titles &/or credentials such as dietitian, registered dietitian, and licensed dietitian.
